

Geraldine Ong, MD

Biography

Dr. Geraldine Ong joined the active staff in August 2018 as a clinician investigator and Assistant Professor in the Division of Cardiology of SMH. She obtained her MD at the University of Montreal and completed her cardiology training at Laval University. She did an Echocardiography Fellowship at SMH followed by a Research Echocardiography Fellowship at the Cardiovascular Research Foundation (CRF) and Columbia University in New York, and has completed a Research and Clinical Fellowship at the Centre de Recherche de l'Institut de Cardiologie et Pneumologie de Québec (IUCPQ), along with a Master of Science in Clinical and Biomedical Sciences (MSc) at Laval University. She also works for the CRF and IUCPQ Echocardiography Core Laboratories for clinical trials including transcatheter aortic, mitral and tricuspid valve replacement trials (industry sponsored). Geraldine's research activities will contribute to the clinical and academic growth of the SMH Multidisciplinary Heart Valvular Program.
